Arbor Day Celebrated in McLean

In recognition of Arbor Day, the McLean Trees Foundation (MTF), in conjunction with Kajeet, a wireless broadband service company based in Tysons Corner, planted a native Redbud tree adjacent to Kajeet's headquarters on Jones Branch Drive and Westpark Drive. Ten Kajeet employees participated in the planting. Kajeet provides filtered internet access outside the classroom, including to students in Fairfax County public schools.

In recognition of Arbor Day, the McLean Trees Foundation sponsored a spring work day in Lewinsville Park, McLean. Twenty-five volunteers weeded, edged, pruned, and mulched 22 trees along Chain Bridge Road. Volunteers included local residents, high school students, Fairfax County Tree Stewards, students from George Mason University, and the Chesterbrook Elementary School Tiger Dens - Pack 1867.

Langley High School Rowers Head to Division 1 Teams

Langley High School rowers Sophia Rogers, left, and Katie Slade committed to row for Division 1 programs, UNC-Chapel Hill and Bucknell University, in a ceremony at Langley High School on April 20. Rogers commits to row for the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she will begin her studies in biology this fall. Slade, the co-captain this year, will be pursuing a major in markets, innovation and design at Bucknell's College of Management.
